NOTE: Because populations are in constant fluctuation, it is difficult to record the current populations. These totals, therefore, represent the highest numbers of individuals present for each winter season.

(A) is the wild, non-migratory flock in Louisiana which died out in the late 1940's.

(B) are the two wild flocks other than the Aransas/Wood Buffalo flock. To read this population: Bosque Del Apache/Grays Lake flocks are to the left of the "/" and the Florida flock is to the right of the "/". The readings for 1996-97 would be 3 in the Bosque Del Apache flock and 75 in the Florida flock.
